

Presidential Travel by Train and Operating Perspectives

Radford Jones

Biographic Information

Rad Jones has been a model railroader since 1955 and currently models in N scale. His freelanced Move It On (MIO) Railroad System, Hillsdale Division a New York Central connector, duplicates many locations he visited during a 21 year career with the U. S. Secret Service. Rad retired from the Secret Service as the Agent in Charge of the Michigan Division. During his Secret Service career he was responsible for a number of dignitary advance security arrangements, including several by train. Upon retirement he became the manager of global Fire and Security Operations, Ford Motor Company and is now an instructor in the School of Criminal Justice, Michigan State University. He is involved with the Department of Homeland Security in community emergency preparedness and teaches a graduate course in criminal justice. He has given a number of presentations at regional and national NMRA events and around the US on Presidential train travels.

Model Railroad Presidential Train Operating Concepts:

Pre-Advance Train – Travels Presidential train route to remove any hazardous material cars in close proximity to the track and/or to determine if fixed security may be required at the location. This may be accomplished several days prior to the visit.

Advance Train - An engine and crew traveling the route in advance of the Presidential train to verify that hazardous material and other security concerns in close proximity to the track have been removed or appropriate security is in place.

Pilot Engine – Proceeds Presidents train by approximately 30 minutes and contains several passenger or baggage type cars.

President's Train

Engine

Baggage Car(s)

Commutations Car

Press Car

Coach(s)

Staff and other dignitaries

Presidential Car – Vestibule

Follow-up Train – Follows Presidential train by 15 minutes to provide rear security and availability in case there is difficulty with the Presidential train.

Engine

Coaches

Situational Cards – Possible threat or hazard along route to slow up or stop President's train

References

- Ambrose, Stephen (2000), Nothing Like It in the World: The Men Who Built the Transcontinental Railroad 1863 -1869, New York: Simon & Schuster.
- Botkin, B.A. and Harlow, Alvin F. (1953), A Treasury of Railroad Folklore, New York: Bonanza Books.
- Dewhurst, H.S. (1955), The Railroad Police, New York: Charles C. Thomas.
- Dorr, Robert F. ((2002), Air Force One, St. Paul, MN: MBI Publishing Company.
- Ellis, Richard J.. (2008), Presidential Travel, The Journey from George Washington to George W. Bush, Kansas: The University Press of Kansas.
- Gallagher, Hugh G. (1985), FDR's Splendid Deception, New York: Dodd, Mead & Company.
- Holbrook Steward H. (1957). The Story of American Railroads, New York: Bonanza Books.
- Klara, Robert. (2010). FDR's Funeral Train, New York: Palgrave MacMillan.
- Meredith, Ray & Arthur (1979) Mr. Lincoln's Military Railroad, New York: W.W. Norton & Company
- Perata, David D. (1996). Those Pullman Blues,: An Oral History of the African American Railroad Attendant, New York: Simon & Schuster Macmillan
- Slusser, H. Robert (1996). Mr. Lincoln's Railroad Car, Alexandria, VA: Alexandria Archaeology Publications Number 76.
- Solomon, Brian (2001). Railway Maintenance, St. Paul, MN: MBI Publishing Co.

Walsh, Kenneth T. (2003) Air Force One: A History of the Presidents and Their Planes, New York: Hyperion Special Markets.

Warrick, Bill (2000) The Lincoln Funeral Train, Tampa, FL: Herron Rail Video.

Withers, Bob (1996) The President Travels by Train, Lynchburg, VA, TLC Publishing Inc.

Classic Trains, Winter 2005 and Summer 2003.

Classic Trains, "FDR's Wartime Train Travels" Special Edition No.6, 2008;

Trains, The Magazine of Railroading, February, 1990;

Trains, The Magazine of Railroading, February, 2009

The Sentinel, Official Publication of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Historical Society, Baltimore, MD, Fourth Quarter, 2006. Note: The Sentinel has contained many articles regarding dignitary travels by train.

U.S. Secret Service Archives, Washington, DC.

Presidential Libraries and Museums – The Ideals Guide to Presidential Homes and Libraries by Peggy Schaefer.

11/3/2011